

Leawo Updated Leawo Prof. Media 8.3.0.2 with Newly added ImgBurn Burning Engine

Leawo just rolled out Prof. Media 8.3.0.2 with Newly added ImgBurn Burning Engine to burn the disc more successfully.

Shenzhen, Sep 8, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Leawo Software, a company specialized in multimedia solutions and data management software, just pushed out Leawo Prof. Media 8.3.0.2 with major update to Blu-ray Creator module with newly added ImgBurn Burning engine.

Featuring a DVD/Blu-ray Creator, Leawo Prof. Media could help people to convert and burn videos and photos to DVD/Blu-ray disc, folder and/or ISO image files, playable on many Blu-ray players and computers. It could burn MP4 to Blu-ray, MKV to Blu-ray, WMV to Blu-ray, AVCHD to Blu-ray, etc., with various custom features such as disc menu designing and video/photo slideshow editing.

The key upgrades of Leawo Prof. Media 8.3.0.2:

- Newly added ImgBurn burning engine.
- Fixed error of burned discs unable to play on Panasonic Blu-ray players.
- Optimized burning workflow.
- Upgraded the browser of the Downloader module.

In previous versions, Leawo Prof. Media can only use VSO for engine burning, sometimes the program will fail to burn. With this update, users can switch to Image Burn for burning. ImgBurn burning engine can burn different content discs, including BDAV, BDMV and DVD. Now, with the newly added ImgBurn engine, customers could burn DVD/Blu-ray disc more perfectly.

Also, Leawo Team fixed the issue of burned discs being unable to play on Panasonic Blu-ray players. In addition, Leawo Prof. Media 8.3.0.2 optimized the burning workflow and disc title sorting rules for smoother burning experience.

Moreover, Leawo also upgraded the browser of the Downloader module and updated the parsing library to solve the YouTube video download failed problem.
