FROM TEHRAN to the LAND of the FREE

“Struggles of an Iranian to Live Up to Her Potential”

Mitra Thompson

Wilmington, Sep 11, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Mitra Thompson was born in Tehran, Iran. The practices and beliefs of her country hindered her from exploring her potential. However, all of these did not stop Mitra from dreaming. With determination, hard work, and support from family and friends, Mitra came to America. From Tehran to the Land of the Free: Struggles of an Iranian to Live Up to Her Potential is Mitra's story in the Land of the Free and Home of the Brave where she had a taste of freedom and conquered her fears.

"...Thompson's memoir speaks for the millions that have and continue to endure persecution and find themselves encountering barriers to living a life of abundance and opportunity. Many readers will experience a hint of recognition throughout Thompson's journey, while those foreign to such will be startled at this in-depth glimpse into the life of an Iranian woman whose resolute nature prevented her from becoming another statistic," comments Mihir Shah.

Mitra Thompson was born in Tehran, Iran. She migrated permanently to America to receive the higher education that was denied to her in Iran because of her religious beliefs. After her dear husband's passing at the end of 2011, her daughter inspired her to write her memoir. Mitra has a son, a daughter, and a stepdaughter, all of whom are married and have two children of their own. She currently resides in North Carolina.
