

PrepForTech - An Online Learning Startup launches Courses for Interview Preparation

PrepForTech helps Student Get Mentored by Industry professionals & Assist them in Placements

New Delhi, Sep 5, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Amidst the booming market for pre-recorded courses, PrepForTech has launched a new set of courses for interview preparation and upskilling yourself for better IT jobs in product based company.

Unlike the other courses, these courses are taught live in small batches which proves much more beneficial for the students and enhances their learning experience.

Since the classes are taught live, the students are able to have direct interaction with the instructor and ask clarifying doubts which are missing in recorded courses. This results in better retention and application of material taught in class.

Courses

Their flagship course is the live interview preparation Bootcamp, which is a 4-month Bootcamp especially designed for working professionals and final year undergrads. It covers all the essential topics related to crack interviews of FAANG and other top product-based companies. The top performers from the interview prep Bootcamp, even get referrals to selected companies through PrepForTech!

The uniqueness of the interview prep bootcamp lies in the way it is taught. Each concept in the Interview Prep bootcamp is covered twice, once from a theoretical perspective and once from a problem-solving perspective. This makes sure that the student is able to apply the concepts that he has learnt and solve real problems with it.

Focus On Visualization

PrepForTech's faculty focuses on extremely visual methods of problem-solving, which makes sure that students are able to visualize the solution. This provides an unparalleled deep understanding of the solution, which is essential for cracking FAANG interviews.

Maintaining Quality

Instructors who are already working with top companies like Google, Amazon, and Facebook teach all the courses offered by PrepForTech. These instructors undergo a rigorous selection and training process before even taking their first class! This ensures that all the batches of the courses have consistent and the best teaching quality.

Course Resources

Once you signup for the live Interview Preparation Bootcamp, you will get access to their practice website and the mobile app, which will contain all the supplementary study material for self-study after the class. Apart from the supplementary study material, they also provide the class recordings along with the study notes for the class.

All of this study material and notes come with lifetime access, so you can continue using the material even after the course is over!

Free Resources

To aid self-study, PrepForTech aims to build the biggest collection of coding interview problems which students can go through to better their preparation.

These problems have been categorized into multiple granular Interview Topics and also categorized into different Company Wise Interview questions.

Future Plans

To make the experience of its students even better, PrepForTech is working on a mix of live and recorded courses, which offer the best of both worlds. This would give the students the benefit of attending live classes as well as the convenience of recorded courses.

Due to the increased demand for its live classes, PrepForTech is actively working on scaling up the live classes without compromising on its quality.

For more details visit: <https://prepfortech.in/>

Media Contact

Jeremy T

marketing@thestoodent.com

Source : PrepForTech

See on IssueWire

