

RadicalStart announcing a new product launch - WooberlyEats - An UberEats clone script

Brookhaven, Sep 24, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - RadicalStart is announcing the launch of the WooberlyEats - a customizable and readymade UberEats clone script that enables entrepreneurs to launch their delivery business immediately into the market.

The WooberlyEats - on-demand food-delivery app solution comes with the driver app, eater app, restaurant web panel, and admin panel.

The eater app allows the end-user to order food from the list of restaurants provided on the app. The driver app is used by the delivery people, who get notified of their food delivery orders from the app.

Along with apps, there is a web panel for restaurant owners and platform owners. The Restaurant web panel lets restaurant owners see all the orders done by the end-user.

The Admin dashboard is for the owners of the online food delivery business. They oversee and manage the restaurants, drivers, and end-users on the platform.

When it comes to technology, the WooberlyEats platform is built with Flutter that adds advantage. Flutter presents an easy way to build a beautiful UX layout by customizable widgets and design complex animations using 2D Flare.

The platform is full-featured and scalable. Customers can book an order efficiently and get it delivered to their doorstep.

The WooberlyEats solves the challenges of launching an on-demand delivery platform faster into the market. The entrepreneurs can concentrate on the other aspects of the business peacefully.
