Los Angeles, Sep 11, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - For those busy people always on the go, here is an offer they simply can't refuse – a virtual Visa gift card bought with Bitcoin and delivered through email wherever they are! Express Cards is pleased to introduce virtual debit cards that work just like the plastic ones, with all the benefits of a regular debit card, from online shopping to Paypal verification.

A virtual Visa gift card makes for an excellent choice today. The great benefit of a virtual Visa gift card instant delivery to your email is made even better with low fees and high security. There is also the advantage of a direct purchase with Bitcoins without middlemen. All of this saves valuable time. No matter where a customer is, they can buy a virtual Visa card with Express Cards or even an iTunes card, to be delivered straight into their email.

The virtual Visa gift card works just like any debit card for online shopping. The card saves on time and money as it can be bought with bitcoins. The virtual cards are always safe and secure. Another feature is the instant re-loading of the card with bitcoins whenever needed. Those who want to verify their Paypal account can do so with the Express Cards virtual debit cards.

Using cryptocurrency to buy a virtual debit card means faster, secure, and confidential transactions. There is no need to spend time on various activation processes, or go through the time-consuming documentation. Express Cards allows everyone to get a virtual Visa card for use at any time.

Getting hold of a virtual card is easy. On the Express Cards website, customers can apply for the card and use bitcoin to make the payment. The virtual card is instantly sent to their email ID anywhere in the world. The card can be used for unlimited cash withdrawals too. There are no monthly fees to pay and online shopping remains safe and secured with tracking of payments and also protection against card theft.

“We value your time in this age of on-the-go shopping and have thus introduced a virtual card that saves on both time and money. Express Cards gives you the best of today’s technology that makes it possible to get a virtual card right into your email with bitcoins,” says a spokesperson for Express Cards.

The virtual Visa gift card is not an unfamiliar concept but known and trusted by consumers. The gift card can be sent in minutes and instantly redeemed by the receiver. With the power of the Visa network, the card will work around the world at countless locations. The users can manage their card account from anywhere using their connected device.

The virtual gift card is also very safe with low risk. Users get to spend only the amount carried by the card or the amount they reload. Any shopping rewards and refunds get stored in the card as well. The user is also protected against identity theft. When users pay via the card, they don’t reveal any confidential financial details.

The Bitcoin Virtual Visa Gift Card is a global solution to never be without a payment solution. The card also allows instant foreign exchange conversion. For those who also need to keep a physical card, they can ask for the physical version of the card as well.
