

BandUpSick Stages a Story with Different Vocal Rhythms in His Latest Music Release ‘Cap Life’

The bleak version of BandUpSick’s song ‘Cap Life’ is a story from just another day of his life, where he focuses on the things that make him immortal in the industry.

Los Angeles, Oct 28, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Upcoming artist BandUpSick is a certified superstar in the hip hop community who unleashes his biggest forte, spewing out the raw form of emotions in the flow of immersive rhythms with the new hip hop release 'Cap Life'. Produced by his eminent Bandupmusicgroup production house, it has already been a major hit. It is a significant record for his career as it reflects a huge part of his experience in the industry as an indie artist and his gradual upgrade in the world of music magicians. It is a peppy, groovy song with astonishing beats that will provoke your mind to dance like a wild soul on the moshpit.

Life will turn into bliss with some sense of ignorance; that's what he has learned from his annoying and impish experiences. He got lost in the wild ride but found the light at the end of the tunnel. The creative road is strangely tough and the young artist perceives real ideas about life and love from the fall. 'Star Lite' is a beautiful song that glorifies his attempts to reach eminence and all the futile approach, frustration. 'I'm So Solid' is a tough hip hop track with his rock-solid confidence that gained huge popularity.
