

DJ East 137 - New Hip Hop Release "Bottleneck"

Arlington, Oct 20, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - As the cover art might suggest, the world is going to pieces and its remains are working to swing the scale of anything good in its favour. However, a heavy burden is making sure that desire remains a dream. Reasonably uptight, DJ East 137 drags in social political observations and struggles plaguing the court of public opinion and pins them out across a sound field that immediately draws your classic hip-hop sensibilities. This is a summary of your United States' quarantined reality. Skillfully voiced over heavy drum drops and artfully spaced instruments, it also offers coping supports championing peaceful responses, and an important and most powerful way of dealing with uncertainty in its own arena.

DJ East 137 debuted on the commercial music scene on Hood Related Entertainment Music on Dec 22, 2009 with the musical autobiography, "Book of Rhymes. The label later released four more singles before releasing "Major Detour" on July 8, 2015. "Bottleneck" represents the coming of DJ East 137's follow up the album yet to be named.
