New York, Nov 4, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Indulge Now, a virtual marketplace for beauty, grooming, and wellness services, call out to all service providers to update their profiles on the platform so that customers get a better insight regarding the availability and expanse of their amenities.

The innovative platform of Indulge Now facilitates interactions between the service providers like traveling barbers, hairstylists, freelance makeup artists or cosmetologists, mobile massage therapists, beauticians, aestheticians, manicurists, nail technicians, and the customers for in-home services. The platform provides an integrated network of some of the top-rated service providers in the industry paving the way for marketing and business scopes. The industry of beauty and wellness now comes to your door with experienced professionals catering to the personal needs of customers.

With efficiency and reliability as the key focus, Indulge Now help connect these services with customers within their preferred locations. Bookings can be made for in-house services or customized as per the requirement of the customer. Look through their list of service providers' profiles to learn about their experiences and area of expertise. Service providers can also register and join their network along with their list of services, photos, video, availability, and cancellation policies and connect to potential customers through the convenience of the platform.

A profile image or video of the service providers affiliated to Indulge Now helps in the accurate demonstration of their jobs and professional disciplines. Sharing stories and engaging the potential audience through a personalized profile also helps in cultivating effortless interactions. Establishing a personal connection with the customer helps in a more comfortable exchange of services. It is also important for the customer to know about the service providers who will be working in close proximity to them before availing of their services. A profile entails trust, information, knowledge, and decision-making considerations so that the best services can be booked.

The current global situation has put everyone in a position of utmost uncertainty. However, Indulge Now with their innovation and marketing prospects have paved the path for an integrated network of beauty and wellness services. Customers can avail of the services of merchants and service providers for their desired needs and book for home appointments or at the service provider's location. The providers also gain the advantage of expanding their client base through the advantage of marketing, bookings, payments, and feedback on Indulge Now's network. Beauty and wellness are now at your doorsteps providing the best services for all your needs.

Indulge Now is an online marketplace bringing together wellness seekers and service providers under one functional platform.
