

Injury Care Chiropractic is a Leading State of Art Facility For The Treatment of Auto, Work, City, School Accidents

Louisville, Oct 19, 2020 (issuewire.com) - Being an expert Chiropractor with over 39 years of experience in the treatment of auto and work injuries I see this often. A patient will come in and many times 5 -10 years after an accident will still be suffering as the result of an accident. They now have DJD, degenerative joint disease, where the body tries to sacrifice mobility for stability. In other words, the spine or joints will try to fuse together in an attempt to stop motion. This is not good for the body because God designed it for motion and that is where precise manipulations can help. Movement of joints brings in nutrition to joints and increases ROM(range of motion). Once our motion stops, then we must become dependent on others and that is not a happy feeling with respect to our future. No one wants to be a burden to others who will have to help us dress, bath, or even walk. At Injury Care Chiropractic we have designed a protocol of treatment that appears to help slow down this degenerative process following an injury. It is my opinion that when patients stay on course they have a better chance of restoring motion, decreasing swelling, pain, spasm, and tenderness. Which all can be the beginnings of degeneration. These are direct observances I have seen with over 30 thousand patients over many years of practice.

When in an accident, no matter how minor you might think it is. Get checked out immediately. If to the hospital and they said there was nothing wrong, that does not mean you do not have some soft tissue injuries. Hospitals are emergency care and if you do not have fractures or need stitching, then there is nothing more they can do. Just call or walk-in, we will see you immediately
