

Vugera teases Q100 Series Dashcam

Buford, Oct 9, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Vugera USA has given the world its first proper teaser images of the upcoming new dashcam model Q100S.

Adorned in a premium nylon-like finish, the all-new Q100S image actually reveals just about all of the luxurious styling a premium dashcam can convey.

Inspired by luxurious automotive interior designs, the Q100S has dark chrome accents on the front and a clean matt black finished surface that covers the brand logo area. The 'VUGERA' logo (LED lights-up when motion is detected in parking mode) immediately catches the eye, as does the contrasting red color on the center of the logo.

The Q100S is another variation of Vugera's QHD dashcam products equipped with a dual front and rear 1440p resolution. Behind the 2.5K technology is an image sensor developed by Smartsens introducing its latest DSI image sensor that has an enhanced quantum efficiency in Near-Infrared (NIR) regions.

While it isn't clear which micro SD card capacity the Q100S will be offered as standard, the model number could suggest a possible 128GB (with Samsung's V-NAND technology) ensuring a long-hour of saved footage.

In the digital era of the display, the Q100S is expected to have a 4-inch wide IPS-LCD with a touchscreen. ADAS (Advanced Driver Assistance System) features will be available along with a Hyperlapse recording function that can be used while driving and during parking mode minimizing energy consumption for longer recording times.

Vugera USA plans to announce the final details of the specifications and the pricing in the 4th quarter ahead of the official launch in North America next year.

Founded in 2011 by Carnavicom, Vugera is a South Korean dashcam brand certified for IATF (International Automotive Task Force) 16949:2016 quality management standards, supplying and developing OEM solutions for world-leading luxury car makers such as Mercedes-Benz.
