

Author Lynne Hill-Clark Expands Release of Novels

Tucson, Nov 27, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Author Lynne Hill-Clark will be relaunching the release of all her titles, including the Lords and Commoners trilogy. Formerly only available for Kindle subscribers and exclusively through Amazon.com, Hill-Clark's books will now also be available direct to consumer through her website, in select retail outlets, and on an expanded list of ebook platforms. This will include Amazon Kindle, Apple iBooks, and others. Additionally, for the first time ever, they will soon be available in audiobook format. Her books in all formats can be easily found and purchased, direct to consumer, from her publishing label's website: futureclassicspublishing.com The expanded list of places to find Hill-Clark's books will make it easier than ever to experience and become immersed in the rich worlds she creates.

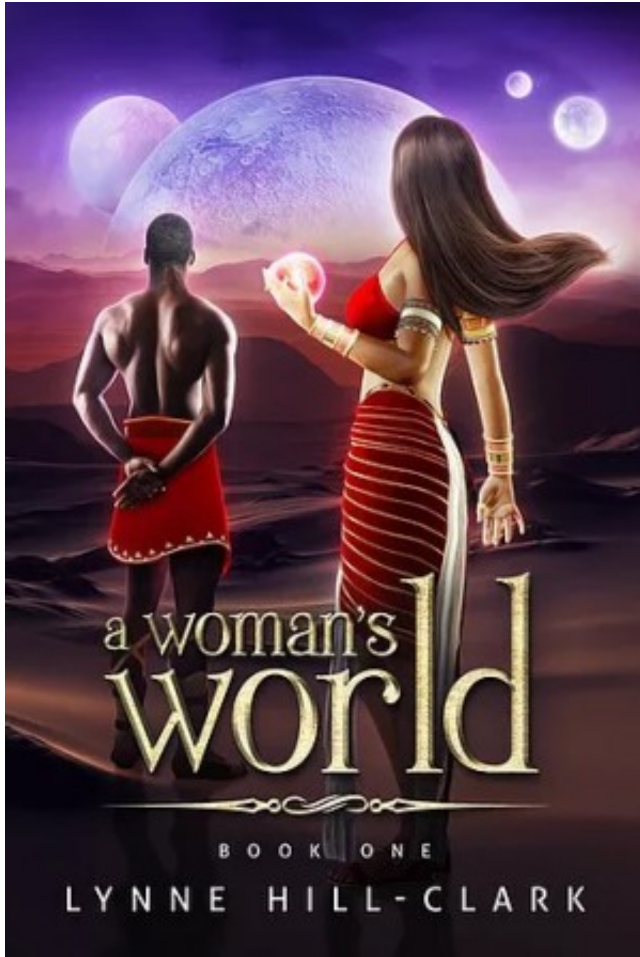

Hill-Clark's newest releases will be under her new independent publishing label Future Classics Publishing. A celebrated author, Hill-Clark was on the shortlist for the Chanticleer Paranormal book award in 2019, and her books were in the top 20 in their category on the Amazon sales chart at the time of launch. Hill-Clark's Lords and Commoners series is an alternate history, dystopian fantasy, featuring vampires, romance and intrigue. Hill-Clark's works have been praised for their strong environmental and religious themes, and shedding light on social issues in dramatic and entertaining ways.

Her upcoming releases Lost Powers and A Collision of Worlds will be the thrilling sequels in the Woman's World series, a spin-off to the Lords and Commoners series. Protagonist Baya will face new trials as she is confronted with the truth about her history, faces her worst fears, and restores what was stolen. The series has been noted for its strong feminist themes and take on gender roles.

Wholesalers and retailers interested in the distribution of books under the Future Classics Label may contact ed@bajekpublisherservices.com

Interested readers can visit futureclassicspublishing.com or check select fine specialty book retailers.

Media Contact

Bajek Publisher Services

ed@bajekpublisherservices.com

2015603831

Source : Future Classics Publishing

See on IssueWire