

Education re-evaluated? A peek into the future as MSBM Launches over 500 Online Courses focused on career enhancements

London, Dec 11, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - If there would be one major and lasting after-effect of the Covid-19 pandemic, it'll be how our everyday way of life had to be adjusted to accommodate our need to not only survive but also to lead a fulfilled life. We asked ourselves tough questions, compromise, re-evaluate, and revisit ideas we would not typically give a moment's thought. We have had to look for unique solutions suited to the problems the Post-Covid world presents.

The future of Education is already set on a different path than the norm. The idea of spending tens of thousands in dollars for the pursuit of education only to realize that the result is not commensurate with the investment and the idea of student loans in an uncertain job market is fast losing its appeal.

As much of the world are urged to stay home, working professionals and aspiring students everywhere are looking for new methods to stay engaged and remain relevant.

With job openings down by about 75% according to the recent data from Adzuna, there is the need for parents, aspiring students, and working professionals to stay engaged and relevant. Due to the restrictions on movement around the world as a result of the Pandemic, most people are eager to upscale their skills with professional online courses and programmes which are not just affordable but also reliable no matter the situation.

To make these relevant courses or programmes available and affordable, Metropolitan School of Business & Management, UK, an Online Business School launches over 500 UK accredited professional programmes, under the CPD (Continuing Professional Development) courses and Full Degree courses via their purpose-built Online Learning Portal. The portal combines pre-recorded lectures with videos and case studies to make learning more efficient and interactive.

A unique feature of these courses is that they can be taken anytime and anywhere on your mobile devices. It also has a self-study feature with access to webinars for the full degree courses.

MSBM UK has embraced flexible online learning and payment structures to allow learners to complete their full degree programmes while still working, and also pay their fees in instalments. Assessments are conducted via quizzes and assignments to ensure that learners and students understand what they are being taught and can apply the knowledge gained in real-life scenarios.

This is the best time for people to take advantage of this opportunity to advance their careers and immerse themselves in expository and career-enhancing courses

The commendable thing about these courses is that they are designed by MSBM UK to create more literacy in emerging countries and enable people who are not typically able to afford British Education to enjoy affordable learning while still maintaining the UK standard. The programmes will not only help cushion the effects of the Covid-19 Pandemic but also sharpen the skills of participants and most importantly prepare them on how to manage the outbreak of unforeseen setbacks.

This is British Education at its very best and MSBM has carved out a niche for herself presenting relevant and affordable British Education to the world, one student at a time.

Now is the time for you to access affordable and relevant courses online while connecting with a global community of learners, partnering with MSBM UK to learn and grow as a professional would be to your utmost advantage.

Don't be left out!!!

Media Contact

Metropolitan School of Business and Management UK

uae.social@msbm.org.uk

+44 20 7788 7704

Floor 37, One Canada Square, E14 5DY, Canary Wharf, London, United Kingdom

Source : MSBM UK

See on IssueWire