Orange Park, Nov 26, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Finding Fathers Inc. founder, Donald R. Adams II, proclaimed the fourth Sunday in the month of June of each calendar year as National Fatherless Children's Day! The first NFCD, which is officially recognized by National Day Archives, will take place on June 27, 2021, and will recognize children and families that have been affected by fatherlessness. NFCD can be celebrated by giving gifts and support to those affected by fatherlessness, or by contacting Finding Fathers Inc. to see how you can become a volunteer, supporter, contributor, or member in its efforts to fight this pandemic.

"On behalf of Finding Fathers Inc., we are happy to create this day to recognize all those effected by fatherlessness around the world," Adams said. "Our efforts to bring more awareness to this epidemic will continue as we look to change the conditions of our communities from the inside out. This day will be held on the Sunday after Father's Day Sunday so that those fatherless children can be celebrated and supported."

Finding Fathers Inc. is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) fraternal organization that was newly founded to bring more awareness to fatherlessness and the effects it has on society. Its mission is to build a community of support for fatherless children around the world through global networking and creative parenting strategies. The organization is headquartered in Oakleaf, located in Orange Park, FL.
