Grow tents, also called grow rooms, are folding tents that permit you to grow your plants indoors. With an indoor grow tent, you can make a garden eco-system that's separated from the rest of your indoor space. They're seamless for spaces that aren't frequently perfect for growing, like a garage or closet. It comes in a wide variety based on the size, features, and price that work best for you. Grow tents let you have fresh yield year-round by making an appropriate environment for your indoor hydroponic garden. They also usually provide flood-proof floors and an airtight seal, which help protect from external temperature changes. These tents are also highly energy-efficient.

Green Qube has grown up from an urgent demand in the market for a high-quality, low-cost grow tent. With over 15 years' experience in the global manufacturing and sourcing fields, the industry was born from being able to exploit these trusted, long-term, and developed relationships. Whilst harnessing their in-depth hydroponic knowledge and expertise. They also work closely with industry experts and the growers themselves. This has permitted them to develop a product that responds to the needs of the end-user. Designed and engineered in the UK, their extensive range of grow rooms are based around the concept of quality. High-quality components and materials have also been vital to them, so they invest a lot of time and money in sourcing the right resources.

Green Qube is one of the best grows tent suppliers that provide ranges of grow tents at reasonable prices. The company strives to be at the forefront of technology and innovation. Their ethos has always been to ensure that they are continually releasing new features and components, this means that they are always leading the market with something new. They are now strongly established within the UK and have their Green-Qube grow tents in over 180 shops. They now supply throughout Europe including the Netherlands, Finland, Greece, Czech Republic, and Ireland. They are aware that many hydroponic stores and online shops are currently closed due to Covid-19. As a temporary measure, they are now selling direct as their warehouse and office team are still working.
