

“How Am I Doing?” To Screen At The Oscar®-Qualifying Hollyshorts Film Festival’s “Sweet 16”

How Am I Doing? Will Screen Virtually November 13, 2020 Exclusively On Bitpix

Los Angeles, Nov 2, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - The team behind HOW AM I DOING is thrilled to announce that their comedy TV pilot will be screening in competition at the Oscar®-Qualifying HollyShorts Film Festival. The annual festival saw over six-thousand submissions for their “Sweet 16” year and will take place virtually between November 9-15, 2020 on the new streaming platform Bitpix.

This comedy pilot delves into the small victories and bittersweet joys of recovery, middle age and family while taking you on a heartfelt journey with true ups and downs. “How Am I Doing?” invites you to share in a little hope and a lot of laughs. (Colleen Davie Janes, Director/Producer)

HOW AM I DOING? follows the story of recovering alcoholic Eli Meyers, a charming, not quite handsome, forty-something fading actor. Working to prove his stability and reconcile with his family, Eli is thrown for a loop when ex-wife Ronda announces her engagement to Dr. Nick Pappas, aka “Dr. Ventricle”. Temptation and potential failure lurk at every turn and Eli constantly fights to do his best. He will soon realize that progress is anything but linear. Audiences can catch HOW AM I DOING? on FRIDAY, November 13 at 10AM PDT/ 1PM EDT during the TV TROPES block.

Over 400 films will play throughout the seven-day festival. Winners will be announced on Sunday,

November 15th online along with the three Oscar®-Qualifying categories, Best Short Film, Best Live Action, and Best Animation Short.
