New York City, Nov 17, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Reliant Health Services LLC, a leading provider of COVID-19 testing programs, has launched GetTestedNow.com, a website geared at delivering a fast, simple, secure, and highly accurate method for testing through non-invasive saliva collection kits at a customer's home. This test greatly decreases the discomfort and corresponding aversion to undergoing the more common nasopharyngeal tests for Covid-19. COO Scott Kappler believes the addition is perfectly aligned with the company's mission to help rescue our nation from the grips of this virus.

Travel requirements and restrictions imposed by countries, states, and local jurisdictions are highly fluid on a destination-by-destination basis due to COVID-19. Many states and countries are requesting or requiring COVID-19 testing prior to travel. "We can help. We simplify the process of COVID-19 testing by providing a service that is convenient and reliable, providing test results within 24 - 48 hours. Our saliva test kits are available to health care providers, local governments, businesses, and individual consumers," said Kappler.

Reliant currently has available capacity of processing 100,000+ tests per day. Results are guaranteed in 24 - 48 hours. The assay is intended for use under the Food and Drug Administration's Emergency Use Authorization. This is the first saliva test and saliva collection device that is FDA-authorized for at-home self-collection. The test kits ship with the highest priority postage for the fastest delivery to a customer's home and back to the lab.

CEO John Souza states "COVID-19 is a threat to our democracy and way of life. Now more than ever we must band together to protect human life and prevent the destruction of our economy. Widespread testing is the key to getting back on track."

With this powerful advancement in testing, Reliant Health Services LLC is primed to become the lead provider of COVID-19 tests to both medical providers and for the at-home individual. Never before has it been simpler to order a non-invasive COVID-19 test, and receive accurate results in a matter of days from the comfort of your own home. Just click, order, test, and done, with a certificate of health to use for travel or simply peace of mind.
