Get to know Registered Practical Nurse, Natalie Schell, who serves patients in Paris, Ontario, Canada.

New York City, Nov 23, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Natalie is a registered practical nurse at Park Lane Terrace. It is a 132-bed, long-term care home situated on 30 scenic acres in the charming community of Paris, Ontario, Canada.

Offering health care in a home-like setting and specialized care areas, Park Lane Terrace is able to meet the needs of all seniors. “WE CARE about belonging, about supporting autonomy, about respectful relationships, and about our staff who honour those we are privileged to serve” according to their mission statement.

To begin her career, Natalie attended Conestoga College and earned her nursing degree in 2010. With over a decade of expertise in the field, she currently holds expertise in geriatrics and long-term care in order to provide her patients with the best care possible.

A registered practical nurse (RPN) is a healthcare professional who combines nursing skills, knowledge, and judgment to provide nursing care in various sectors of healthcare. The autonomy of the RPN is influenced by the complexity of the client’s condition. RPNs have greater autonomy when caring for a client with less-complex conditions. As client complexity increases, there is a corresponding increase in the need for RPNs to consult with RNs.
