Fabled Jazz artist and producer from the 60s', Pastor Harold T. Johnson Sr. leaves the trails of inspiration to find Jesus in the love for mankind in 'It's Already Done'.

Los Angeles, Nov 13, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - With a devoted soul to gospel music and an irreplaceable love for Jazz music, the grand old man of from 60's glorious scene of music production, Pastor Harold T. Johnson Sr. delivers some magical hooks and heart-whelming prayers in the form of delicate song verses in the music video of 'It's Already Done'. He surpasses with the cabalistic aesthetic of bringing soulful gospel melodies in a heart-felt way by merging jazzy saxophone chords and pure bliss of piano riffs. He points at the time and proves that there is no limit to being creative as he chooses to be the luminous source of devotional music till his last breath. With his remarkable passion and endless experience of life, he composes the new track to show the loving mankind is the only way to love Jesus. Showing reverence to God will only make sense when men will learn to love the world and end the war among different races, power, and communities. It reflects his sentiments and cordial approach to spread unity and compassion in society.

Pastor Harold T. Johnson Sr. is a well-known Latin Jazz artist who has achieved immense popularity for his progressive candor in Jazz and other melodic genres of music. He establishes an empire of music with the songs that push people to pray to God and restore faith in the path of God. Choosing love over power, and materialistic happiness, his songs open a new world of passion and hope for the morbid generation. Preaching for peace through gospel music, his fans have marveled at the combined force of the chemistry and luscious melodies profoundly placed in his songs. After enduring heartbreaks and loss, people tend to feel like a meaningless mass on this earth but he shows the true meaning of life through the dreamy rhythms of jazz in his songs.

The music producer is an all-rounder who has flourished through time and continues to grow his eminence through the latest opus. 'It's Already Done' is the new lyrical video produced by JQ Records/Just Quality Musique. It starts with his picture of playing a grand piano with a theatre full of audience and then it shifts to the picture of a church where people join a church choir and pray to Jesus. While the lyrics cover the screen you will find your soul chasing redemption from earthly sins. He presents finger-picking, engrossing rhythms of Jazz in the verses of a traditional gospel song. The traffic presentation of his skillful musicianship will rule out any type of negativity from the mind of the listeners. Watch the video on YouTube to keep yourself from mundane pesters.
