Take A Look Into The Life Of On The Rise Artist, Josh Singer

Los Angeles, Nov 30, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - I'm Josh Singer. My Brand is Lil Sing Da Lunatik.

Jonathon Davis and Corey Taylor are my Gods in music. Mick Blankenship is a hometown hero to me with music. He's my #1 reason to never give up on it. My goals are just for my music to be heard and now with Sick In This Second, Jake Huber, and My Dying Day on my side I know it'll finally happen! My main goal though is to be able to set my son up for life so he'll never have to worry about anything. The Cardiac Arrest project has been my main focus for the last 8 months so I need to give Reme Da Remedy a shout out in it. It was also the stuff that we've been doing when we went up to Eclipse.

My goal is to spread positive messages and remind others that whatever genre that is created, whether it's rock or rap ..doesn't matter, rap/hip hop/acoustic Rock/R&B/Metal/Pop is all just music that you vibe to in different emotional states of mind. Those vibes are real. It can all be combined into a powerful song that EVERYONE can nod their head to if done correctly. We are all different but we all feel the exact same.

We all get happy, sad, excited, lonely... I just want to create a vibe that within 1 album music haters, by that I mean, I hate country, or I only listen to rap/hip hop, or yuck metal sucks you can't understand anything, etc., can go and turn from song to song vibing it all and actually feeling it. Replaying it and not fully understanding why... It can be done. Numerous people have listened to my playlist and told me that it's so sporadic. They just play it on repeat. It has everything. And that playlist is 33 songs. (nowhere near all of my tracks) that's just mostly collabs on that playlist. That's my goal though and with the right help, I know it can be done!
