

Artist Mocked by Entities He Creates

Secret formula painting technique delivers entities to creator that mock his life on earth.

years ago that changed his life forever.

On the ceiling of his living room, a crack formed and created an image ever imprinted in Furie's Mind. Furie turned his head, and the image caught his attention.

"It was from Albert Einstein. My body and mind filled up with some sort of electrified energy. That's the time I created a new process of painting that changed my life because the Spiritual Awakening I had changed my life."

"I've been producing beautiful artworks ever since."

That was until two months ago Furie started getting audible messages from the paintings.

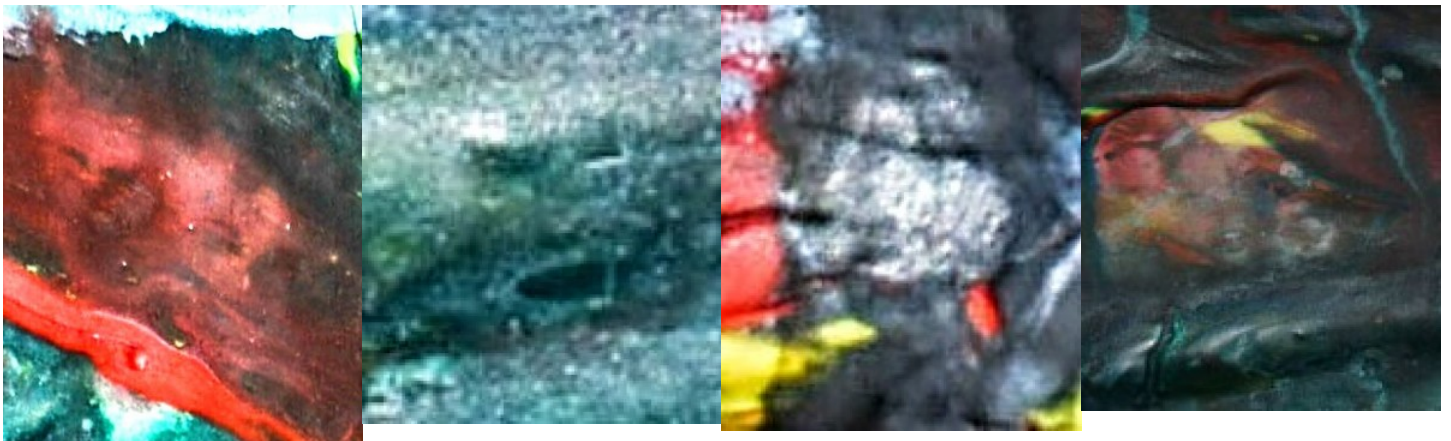

"The entities in my work started telling me horrible things about myself and my life, things like, 'Why would you want to live in misery as a human?,' 'Your wife will divorce you by the middle of 2021,' and, 'You were a horrible son to your mom. Why don't you just end your life?'"

Furie said he went to a psychologist. The psychologist simply told Furie to stop doing the paintings.

"I can't stop doing my artwork. It's my purpose in life."

Furie said the only other time he communicated with an entity in his painting was when a psychic did a reading. The psychic reading was pleasant and easy to listen to.

"Am I going crazy? Schizophrenic? Insane? Maybe. But such is an artist's life. You never know, and who knows? The entities could start telling me how much I'm loved in this world."
