

ASTOS Watches is Ready To Revolutionize The Eyewear Industry With Their Top-Quality Blue Screen Protection Glasses

Almere, Dec 8, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - After winning the internet with his extraordinary collection of designer luxury watches, the YouTuber, influencer, entrepreneur, and musician, and the founder of famous ASTOS Watches, Joey Bravo has launched a new line of next generation blue light blocking screen glasses. Determined to improve the lifestyle of the generation today, the 'Boxing Influencers' star has come up with a smart and technologically advanced solution that is blue light blocking ASTOS eyewear.

In today's digitized world, people are bound to spend most of their days in front of different types of screens such as TV, laptop, mobile, tablet, and more. Long hours of regular exposure to the screen light have a tremendous effect on the human eye that leads to all sorts of eye problems such as eye strain, blurred vision, long-term vision problems, and more. It also causes other issues such as insomnia, headaches, neck and back pain, fatigue, and many more. According to data, most adult Americans spend more than seven hours in front of screens every single day. This type of prolonged exposure to screen lights can cause irreversible damage to the eyes and overall health. ASTOS Watches has brought blue light blocking glasses and sunglasses that are the perfect union between style and protection. Changing the stereotype of screen glasses being nerdy, the company brings a revolution in the screen protection glass market.

Being an avid YouTuber, Joey Bravo had a firsthand experience of the negative impact of screen light spending hours screen every day shooting and editing videos. His protective eyewear collection has gained wide popularity among YouTubers, social media influencers, artists, celebrities due to their exceptional quality and breathtakingly unique design. The glasses are ideal for day and night time, indoor as well as outdoor.

The glasses are made of the highest quality of materials, scratch resistance lenses, and highly durable material. By reaching directly to the customers, ASTOS controls their production chain and provides outstanding craftsmanship and design at a fairly affordable price. The collection is available on their website.
