In a world disrupted by the pandemic, the one thing that has kept us together is Technology. At a time when we're unable to meet our near and dear ones, it is the technology that has come to our respite. Had it not been for many of our tech innovations, mankind would have been reeling under the burden of this dreadful pandemic. Now with technology at their core, many companies are venturing into the digital world to conduct their businesses or events.

Today, every imaginable business activity is being brought into this digital space to minimise the impact of corona pandemic on the economy and to continue "the business as usual". During the lockdown, many entrepreneurs came up with ingenious ideas to start their ventures to prevent slowdown of our burgeoning economy due to the pandemic.

One such novel initiative happens to be 'FairVi' – a one-stop digital platform to conduct all events, including exhibitions, fairs and shows, to bypass the pandemic woes of the Event Management industry. Led by the duo, Sumit Singh, CEO & Co-founder, FairVi, and Gaurav Kumar, Co-founder, FairVi, the company aims to provide you with an exclusive experience of conducting online events and shows through its technologically advanced digital platform. Their cloud-based FairVi platform enables Exhibitors and Attendees to meet in a virtual environment and host any type of event, such as a virtual job fair, conducting a virtual recruitment drive, hosting a webinar or an online conference, or even a virtual product launch, or an online trade & auto show. You name it, and they have it.

FairVi leverages its mantra of "Experience | Engagement | E-Connect" to provide both the attendees and exhibitors a one-of-a-kind experience in the virtual world. For instance, their cloud-based platform comes loaded with quirky features, such as a Virtual 3D Booth, File Sharing system and much more, to make your events eventful and memorable.

Since organising an event is no small feat, it is imperative for organisers and hosts to be on the same page when it comes to conducting it in a virtual setting. The Founders of FairVi realised this and, consequently, came together to launch FairVi to help organisers customise their events, shows, and exhibitions as per their requirements. From various customisation options, interactive spaces such as welcome lounge and waiting spaces etc, to having different audience engagement tools such as live polling, social sharing, QnAs, the FairVi platform has got it all under its umbrella of event offerings to make you organise your shows and exhibitions in a hassle-free manner.
