

Healer Launches Physician-Developed Medical Cannabis Products to Meet Critical Patient Needs

Medical cannabis patient needs are a priority despite focus on recreational use. New products in Maine are available to MMJ card-holding visitors.

Brunswick, Dec 4, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - To support the critical needs of medical patients, Healer has launched a comprehensive suite of medical cannabis products and companion dosage guides through its partnership with Maine caregiver HMCG, LLC.

Healer's distinctive products are now available to Maine residents and medical card holders from throughout the United States visiting Maine, as Maine extends medical cannabis card reciprocity. Healer also has launched a line of Whole Plant Hemp CBD products which are available nationwide.

"With so many dispensaries focusing on recreational products, it is important to ensure that patients continue to have access to safe, reliable, high quality medical products," Dr. Sulak said. "From my experience, getting results with cannabis requires education paired with safe and effective products and I'm grateful that Healer can now provide both."

Healer product formulations include Night, Pain, Balance, Relief, Day, THCA. Each is available as drops or capsules for use individually or in combination to provide relief. An Anytime formulation is available as a vaporizer. Healer's hemp-based products include Whole Plant Hemp CBD and CBDA formulations as drops and capsules.

Healer's products and educational material are based on the work of Dr. Sulak, a leading cannabinoid medicine clinician who is globally recognized by his peers as a pioneer of clinical applications, formulations, and usage protocols. He was one of the first physicians in Maine to incorporate the legal use of cannabis as a medicine in 2009.

All formulations are the result of Healer's patented extraction process which removes impurities while maintaining the broadest possible range of cannabinoids --including the highly bioavailable and potent non-impairing acidic cannabinoids-- as well as terpenes, flavonoids and other important phytonutrients.

"We call this the Healer Spectrum, since many products advertise themselves as full spectrum but mostly only contain CBD and THC, with little else." Healer CEO Brad Feuer said. "Dr. Sulak's clinical experience and our scientific understanding of this plant have shown better results at lower dosages when using products that maintain the most complete range of complementary and synergistic botanical compounds."

Each batch of products is third-party lab tested with certificates of analysis (COA) available on Healer's websites confirming the cannabinoid and terpene levels and verifying that products contain no pesticides, metals or other contaminants. (<https://healercannabis.com/certificate-of-analysis/> or <https://healercbd.com/certificate-of-analysis/>)

"We include QR codes on every box so people can review the COAs while shopping and feel confident knowing exactly what's in the product they are holding," Feuer said. "We're very proud of what is in and what is NOT in our products."

A helpful 20-page Dosage Guide and Response Tracker© accompanies all products to help people find their ideal dose, answer FAQs and more.

Healer medical products may be ordered online for pick up at Healer's Brunswick location at 119 Orion St. as well as at selected storefronts and delivery services throughout Maine. Retail locations can be found at www.HealerCannabis.com.

Healer whole plant hemp products are available online at www.HealerCBD.com.

About Healer

Healer is a trusted, physician-developed medical cannabis brand founded to address the challenges of helping patients and health providers get the best results with safe, reliably dosable products and education on how to best use them. Healer's distinctive product formulations and educational material are based on the work of leading cannabis clinician, Dr. Dustin Sulak, D.O.

Healer medical cannabis products are currently available in Maine and Maryland. Healer Whole Plant Hemp CBD products are available nationwide. For more information about Healer medical cannabis products, visit www.Healercannabis.com. For education on how to use cannabis as medicine or information about Healer Whole Plant Hemp CBD products, visit www.Healer.com.

###

Media Contact

Carla Feuer

carla@healer.com

Source : Healer

See on IssueWire