

Murder Mystery Lists The 5 Best Virtual Murder Mystery Themes For Summer

Los Angeles, Dec 8, 2020 (IssueWire.com) - Summer is the perfect time when we get together with our family and friends and go to beaches and parks for picnics or take vacations or road trips with them. Summer also calls for a lot of cool house parties. But this year didn't see a lot of house parties or any sort of party for that matter. In such a situation, a simple virtual murder mystery game with your close friends and family is also a very good idea.

Keith and Margo's Murder Mystery holds quite a lot of dinner parties and other commercial parties where the attendees indulge themselves in a bunch of murder mystery games. In the last few years, this has changed to virtual murder mystery team building exercise for a lot of people in the corporate. Let us take a look at the 5 best virtual murder mystery themes for summer that you can try.

- Wine Tasting: You can create a nice, relaxing wine tasting party atmosphere with some really cool jazz or classical music softly being played in the background. If you are doing this indoors, you can also choose to have some mood lighting. Or you could light a bunch of candles. Once you are done with this setup, you can choose about four to five different types of wines from any specific region you like. A combination of reds and whites will also be really good. Guests or members can be assigned a specific type of wine to the party. Remember to have plenty of crackers, cheese, fruits as snacks. You can choose a game like Jazz Age Jeopardy to go along with it.
- Scavenger Hunt: Scavenger hunt themes are something people of all ages enjoy playing. These games are high-energy and fast-paced for the search of hidden objects. This is something you can host in your house, you can also make teams and coordinate with people to hide objects in another person's house. You can take this game to another level with new elements. This game can easily accommodate 8 to 12 people at once. Players have to eliminate as many suspects, locations, and weapons by finding the hidden cards. Eventually every player will want to see what the other players have found.
- Breakfast: In this game, you can arrange with the other person's spouse or family member and give them a surprise and take them out for breakfast. This is like kidnapping, except it is not kidnapping. This is a game that might become slightly difficult to pull off or execute but if all the elements are well planned and reliable, then you can be sure that the game will be a success. You can first try this with one person and see how it goes.
- Hawaiian party: The Hawaiian theme party is a relaxed feast where people celebrate all the good things in life. You can include a few fun elements like ukuleles and hoola-hoops. This kind of party requires a relaxed ambience with good food and people around you. This can be done virtually as well. This is a great theme for summer and it is also really easy to execute. You can be sure that almost everybody involved will have fun in this theme. You can choose to play Murder in Maui with this theme.
- Casino: Casino themed parties are often lavish and they require a certain amount of extra input because it is not exactly a very laid-back or chilled-out game. This theme requires a bit of work, but it is also a very exciting theme. You can order casino supplies, and if you are doing this virtual you can find free virtual casino games online. That doesn't have to cost anything.

Conclusion

Virtual murder mystery game is a really fun thing to do and there are many varieties of themes that you can apply. Keith and Margo's online Murder Mystery game handles a lot of these games and themes for individuals, groups of friends, families, and corporate as well. Virtual murder mystery is really interesting if done well and executed well. It is one of the best ways to get to know other people, if you are not already familiar with them.
