She comes to the Women's Health Center from United and Abbott Northwestern Hospitals, where she was an emergency obstetrician.

Graduating with her undergraduate degree from Carleton College, she went on to earn her medical degree from the University of Minnesota Medical School. Furthering her training, she performed her residency in obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Dr. Dohm-Palmer learned early on that medicine allows her to apply her love of science with people. “I am an extrovert at heart and love people. The most rewarding part of medicine is that I get to establish life-long relationships with my patients and positively impact their lives” she said.

A Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (FACOG), the doctor is board-certified in obstetrics and gynecology by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG). The mission of the ABOG is to define standards, certify obstetricians and gynecologists, and facilitate continuous learning to advance knowledge, practice, and professionalism in women’s health.

Obstetrics and Gynecology is the medical specialty that encompasses the two subspecialties of obstetrics and gynecology. An obstetrician-gynecologist, or OB-GYN, is a healthcare professional who specializes in female reproductive health.

Outside of practicing medicine, Dr. Dohm-Palmer enjoys cooking, baking, jogging, biking, swimming, reading, horseback riding, and spending time with her family.
