

Rising Hiphop Artist Highway Tone is Recreating the Essence of Hiphop Music With his Latest Tracks

Enjoy the brisk moves and the flavors of hip hop music with Highway Tone's latest album. This 13 track album is a musical representation of his life and struggles.

Federal Way, Dec 17, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Upcoming striving artist Highway Tone has pieced together his life, personality, and his vocal talent through his latest hip hop tracks. The tracks like 'Getting Rich' and 'Loyalty' have successfully portrayed the artist's talent and a knack for original music. Both of the tracks appear in the latest, titled 'Product of My Enviroment'. The musical arrangement in the tracks is intentionally kept simple and groovy to emphasize the strong bars. The artist meanders through the tracks with his unique vocal tone and eclectic rap deliverance. There is some clever use of vocal prompts that adds a layer of melody to the hard-hitting verses. The artist offers a musical narrative that makes sense and retains interest.

The artist has redefined the genre of hip hop music with his latest album 'Product of My Environment' which consists of 13 freshly churned tracks. This is a result of the artist's hard work and years of struggle. The artist was born in Las Vegas and but rose in Seattle and Federal way in Washington. While surviving in the streets with poverty, the artist had his share of bad times and worked hard to make a way out of it.

After years of struggle, the artist found his escape through music. As a result, Highway Tone makes tracks like 'Getting Rich' and 'Loyalty' that talks about him and his life without any fabrication to make it gorgeous. Currently, this artist is working on new projects to create more of his exquisite tracks. Follow him over Facebook, Instagram, and Spotify to know more about his music.
