

TLG to release "Axios Swimwear" - New International Swimwear Line is said to be next multi-million dollar bikini empire

Young Hollywood Influencer & Award Winning musician switches things up and creates a new Bikini and Surf Line unlike any other...

London, Dec 9, 2020 (Issuewire.com) - Young Hollywood producer and influencer "TLG" isn't sitting around waiting for the world to fix itself, but yet creating what is anticipated to be a multi-million dollar empire during the Covid-19 crisis. TLG who is known to most as a phenomenal musician and young uprising Hollywood Producer is confirmed to be launching a multi-million dollar swimwear and surf gear line which is expected to be like none other.

Following his legal battles in 2018 where TLG's allegation charges of federal money laundering and fraud were found to be falsified, TLG did not let that stop him from being "a creative and talented genius" according to the Creative Department at CBS Television. With this new swimwear line's name just released "Axios Swimwear" which means "Worthy" is catching worldwide attention. Sources have confirmed that TLG's new line although not yet released has contracts with the Olympics and pending contracts with the International Swim League to be the official swimwear provider to several teams. Sources also confirmed that the line with the slogan "Worthy to Wear" will have the latest in bikinis that will be unique and available to women of all sizes. Axios will also carry unisex surf gear and clothing for all the wave lovers out there.

As this new line prepares to launch TLG has remained silent as to many of the details. However, he did mention to E-Weekly "I'm not going to sit still because filming was brought to a standstill, I am going to make another move that makes sense while writing new films"... TLG is also known as an industrial photographer for popular brands such as Converse, Sports Illustrated/SI Swimsuit, Nike, Fashion Nova, Victoria's Secret and many more, is said to be using his close contacts to make this all possible.

TLG was said to have been working on this concept for some time now as it has been confirmed that popular brand Speedo is interested in purchasing TLG's brand for an amount expected to be in the millions. Sources have confirmed TLG isn't interested in selling at this point as this new line is expected to have 4 total locations by July of 2021.
