Norristown, Jan 6, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - ActiveWorx Announces Availability of B2B AP Payment Optimization

ActiveWorx, Inc. (formerly Miria Systems), today announced the general availability of B2B payments optimization services on the ActiveWorx platform. The release of ActiveWorx's B2B payment capabilities will solve recurring business payment processing challenges through a powerful combination of workflow automation software and payment services using advanced machine learning and artificial intelligence. The solution is designed to generate impactful savings and efficiencies while providing a comprehensive view of cash requirements.

Through a single interface, ActiveWorx's B2B payment platform automates and optimizes the payments process. The robust platform tracks the types of payments suppliers accept, where to send a payment, what format to send a payment, and whom the payment should be sent to—providing clear visibility and control of the payment workflow process.

“With integrations to multiple payment processors, the ActiveWorx platform now offers corporate payment capabilities in various formats, including international payments to more than 120 foreign countries,” said William Bridgers, Senior Vice-President of Payment Services. Given the range in transaction costs associated with various payment types, processing payments efficiently with the lowest transaction cost can translate to enormous savings.

ActiveWorx ensures clients benefit from the optimal payment method; continually working with existing suppliers and onboarding new suppliers to accept electronic payments. For clients and suppliers not quite ready to move away from paper checks, ActiveWorx provides check print and mail services at a fraction of in-house costs.
