

An Evil Trade, the fifth novel in the Paladine Political Thriller Series, is a must-read in 2021

San Francisco, Jan 18, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Bestselling author Kenneth Eade has announced the release of An Evil Trade, the fifth novel in his award-winning Paladine Political Thriller Series. In keeping with past works, Eade masterfully weaves real-life issues like terrorism and illicit trafficking into a harrowing, twist-filled narrative in this much-anticipated fifth installment.

An Evil Trade follows anti-hero Robert Garcia, an unforgiving hunter of jihadists best known by the moniker “Paladine,” a reference to the public’s perception of his service as a modern-day paladin whose sole mission is to eradicate evil. After being betrayed by the government he once served as a military man and CIA black ops assassin, the last thing Paladine wants to do again is trust. But after his pseudo-protegee Ayisha Cullen urges him to delve into the ISIS organ trade, Paladine makes a deadly trade that may cost him the only things worth living for.

Fans of David Baldacci and Robert Ludlum will enjoy the action and breakneck pace of the Paladine series. Eade’s work is distinguished by his willingness to broach true-to-life political situations and comment on the darker sides of the modern world. Although fiction, An Evil Trade makes a powerful statement about organ trafficking, corruption, and what happens to necessary men when the government decides their services are no longer needed after all. As Paladine has learned well, “The power to kill does not come without responsibility.”

In her 5-star review of An Evil Trade, Jennifer Ibiam of Readers’ Favorite hails Eade’s work as “an engaging, fast-paced novel” that blends fact and fiction to feel “like an action movie.” The books comprising the Paladine Political Thriller Series have been honored with several prestigious designations, including the RONE Award and the Readers’ Favorite Silver Medal. Paladine, the first in the series, was a quarter-finalist in Publisher’s Weekly BookLife Prize for Fiction.
