Missouri, Fenton, Jan 28, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Bright Light Publishing is looking to disrupt the world of literature by producing books that feature diverse stories and literature. As an advocate for diversification of literary works and publishing, the company focuses on telling interesting yet educational stories to teach life lessons and build the next generation of leaders and responsible adults.

The popular saying - “not all readers are leaders, but all leaders are readers,” attributed to Harry S. Truman as a reiteration of the importance of reading. Over the years, the global publishing market has grown, despite the seemingly low reading culture. According to a recent report titled “Global Book Publishing Industry” published by Reportlinker.com, the global market for Book Publishing was estimated at US$109.8 Billion in the year 2020. The report also projects the market to reach $112.2 Billion by 2027. However, one brand, Bright Light Publishing, looks set to challenge the status quo in the market by delivering entertaining yet thought-provoking content to millions of readers across the globe.

Bright Light Publishing focuses on telling stories about acceptance, equality, inclusion, and kindness, across different genres. The Missouri-based publishing company is bringing a seemingly unique approach to the industry. Thanks to a team of well-experienced, highly trained, and dedicated writers, Bright Light Publishing has been able to produce books of diverse stories, chronicling relatable events in an attractive manner.

The company has also stayed true to its goal of using books as means of changing the world one reader at a time.
