

Coronavirus Brings Huge Boost To London Based Company

COVID-19 Boosts waste management company sales in London

London, Jan 6, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - With all the negative impacts of covid-19 coronavirus, it has brought an unexpectedly huge boost to the demand for REE WASTE management services based in London as people use their spare time to finish their pending household tasks.

Coronavirus has negatively impacted the way we live over the past year. With most people now changing lifestyles, staying at home, shopping online, not socializing, and limiting interaction with people. Sectors such as hospitality, travel, retail, and more have seen a reduction in demand, REE WASTE management is one of the rare businesses that have seen a boost in sales. Its services in the environmental sector include waste management, waste collection, and waste clearance.

REE WASTE Management has seen demand for its waste services quadruple over the past year. Their success is directly linked to the change of living patterns and lifestyle changes imposed by the restrictions linked to Coronavirus. While people stay at home, they also find new things to do and finish off tasks that have been pending in the back of their minds. People are taking the time to complete these tasks and so either producing new waste or getting rid of their unwanted waste.

Garage clearances have meant people clear their old unwanted items and so produce waste to be collected. New DIY projects are abundant including new bathrooms, new general decoration, new kitchens that have resulted in building waste removal being in demand, with wood, rubble, old kitchens, old ceramic bathrooms, tiles, and general building materials. The previous two lockdowns saw an increase in garden projects being conducted with greenery being trimmed, new driveways, new patios, green areas created for living space. All this has had an impact on the demand for REE Waste management services.

The third lockdown we are currently in is no different. With new year resolutions in full swing, people are clearing garages, opening space for home gyms, space for children to play indoors, and starting new DIY projects.

While some people opt for skip hire, there is a very large amount of demand for man and van waste removal. The fact that people come and clear the waste for you is a big bonus. The other aspect to it is the fact the collection is instant, requires no skip space and fees to the local authorities and the waste is recycled.

Managing Director Ersan Ozdemir Said: “Sales are expected to continue to rise in this 3rd lockdown. We have already seen a surge of people visiting our website, booking rubbish removals in. With our Covid-19 safety policy we keep our distance from people, wear masks, sanitise our hands, and sanitise all our trucks, and our uniforms regularly. We have now invested in new trucks to meet growing demand, so we can cater for people’s needs more efficiently”.

REE WASTE management has over each lockdown, expanded its reach step-by-step. Located in Wimbledon, London SW19, it initially served Surrey & South west London, and now offers its waste management services to all areas within the M25 and now Central London, the entire Greater London area, and Surrey

About REE WASTE management

REE WASTE management is a London based waste management company. It is registered with the Environment Agency as a licensed waste carrier. REE WASTE management specializes in rubbish removal, waste collection, house clearance, garden clearance, construction waste removal, business waste collection and residential waste removal. REE WASTE management has a zero-landfill target as it recycles, upcycles, and repurposes waste as much as possible. REE Waste head office is located in Wimbledon, London while offers its waste management to the surrounding areas of Central London, the entire Greater London area, and Surrey

Contact details:

For further details on this story contact: Mr Ersan Ozdemir on email: info@reewaste.co.uk , telephone 020 3283 8663 or through the website <https://www.reewaste.co.uk>

Media Contact

REE Waste Management

info@reewaste.co.uk

020 3283 8663

14 Leopold Road

Source : REE WASTE Management

See on IssueWire