He has an office in New York City and three locations in northern New Jersey, all of which are equipped with the latest tools and compassionate staff.

A licensed vein specialist with more than 10 years of success, Dr. Gorelik eliminates pain from problem veins and provides clearer skin in the most relaxing environment. He listens patiently to patients' complaints to get a full understanding of their issues, relies on up-to-the-minute diagnostic tools, and a knowledgeable evaluation process to reach a correct diagnosis as part of the complete vein consultation, and chooses the least invasive vein treatments first. He also treats underlying medical issues while working to deliver clear skin, free of visible veins, offers a wide range of treatment options to suit the vein condition, as well as treats common varicose veins and more complex vein problems, like venous insufficiency.

Utilizing his clinical skills, he is experienced in endovenous laser ablation, laser therapy for spider veins, endovenous radiofrequency ablation, sclerotherapy for varicose veins, sclerotherapy for spider veins, venous stasis ulcer treatment, and even ambulatory phlebectomy, when necessary.

With a broad educational background, Dr. Gorelik completed his Bachelor of Arts & Sciences degree at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Connecticut in 1997. He then went on to attend Tel Aviv University Sackler School of Medicine, graduating with his medical degree in 2001.

His post-graduate training began with his internship at the Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn in 2002. He followed that with his residency at Saint Barnabas Medical Center in 2004. He then did postdoctoral research at Stanford University and finished his training with a three-year fellowship in cardiovascular disease at the State University of New York in Buffalo in 2009.

Having completed special training, the doctor is board-certified in internal medicine and cardiology by the American Board of Internal Medicine, a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world. He is also board-certified in nuclear cardiology through the Certification Board of Nuclear Cardiology, putting him in demand at hospitals and clinics throughout the area.
