"It should come as no surprise to any employer to learn that a happy employee is a more productive employee. So, from a fine business point of view, having happy employees should be the goal of all companies, be they small, medium or large" says Moussa Sall.

Before we continue to dig deep into these brief interviews, I will like to give a brief intro on who is Moussa Sall?

Moussa Sall is also known as youngsallbaby, is an Italian entrepreneur and professional Businessman, who, at a certain stage of his life, has managed to bring up a renowned career in elements such as marketing, social media business, and understanding how to invest in his employees' happiness without breaking is budget.

He said looking at this issue from a human point of view, having happy employees is something every boss or manager should strive for anyway. Nobody wants to run a business that is so miserable that their staff practically leave the office as soon as the working day is over.

That said, it's time to make some changes if your employees tend to seem bored, depressed, or generally uninspired. It's time to make happiness a top priority in the workplace. He advises that managers especially should take advantage of the following tips he is about to share and use them to transform their office into a beautiful environment that people are excited to work in.
