Newport Beach, California resident Tony Mavusi nominated for Entrepreneur of The Year

California, Los Angeles, Jan 30, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - -- Newport Beach, California resident Tony Mavusi has been nominated for Computer World and EY 2021 Entrepreneur of the Year. Since opening in 1998, Mavusi has been at the head of Pyramid Technology's operations as well as being responsible for running all facets of the business. Pyramid Technology has over 20 years of experience that has a proven track record in the world's very competitive technology industry. Pyramid Technologies is a leading global distributor of communication and security products, electrical and electronic wire, and board-level components. "The company adds value to the distribution process by providing our customers access to Inside Quote, which is an innovative inventory management program. It was developed for my company which grants access to more than 250,000 products and over $500 million in inventory" says Mavusi. Mavusi has also acted as the primary sales consultant in the company and as a technical supply channel partner for Fortune 500 contract manufactures and commercial customers. Mavusi has also been a pillar of his community in which he also sponsors many local programs for the underprivileged and homeless in the greater Los Angeles area. He can also be seen at local animal shelters volunteering his time and is a big advocate against animal abuse and brutality. Congratulations go out to Tony Mavusi and for being a part of such an innovative business.
