Companies aim to enable customers to stay ahead of emerging threats with a best in class threat detection and response solution

Uttar Pradesh, Noida, Jan 28, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Smokescreen Inc, a Gartner recognised cyber-deception technology provider has entered into a strategic partnership with SDG Corporation, a leader in innovative cyber-defence solutions, to support wider reach of the latest release of its active defence platform across Asia-Pacific, Middle East and North Americas. Smokescreen's red-team heritage in banking and operational technology and SDG's two decades of experience in delivering cybersecurity solutions make this partnership a great asset for global customers.

"We are in an era of hyper-digital transformation, and the risk of zero-day and file-less malware attacks exists for all enterprises. It is extremely important for enterprises to stay one step ahead of fraudsters attempts to breach and exploit vulnerabilities." says Ajay Gupta, President & CEO of SDG Corporation. "We are extremely excited about our strategic partnership with Smokescreen. SDG's focus is on reducing risk for our clients, With this partnership, we will offer enterprises an innovative threat hunting solution and bring down alert fatigue in a cost and time efficient manner."

Speaking about the partnership, Sahir Hidayatullah, CEO and co-founder of Smokescreen said,

"Our adversarial approach to active defence allows our customers to reimagine their SOC and detect better threats. An easy to use platform makes the solution both accessible and attractive to companies of all size and maturity. Our partnership with SDG Corporation is a key step towards making the solution available to a much wider audience. Coupled with their experience in the threat intelligence domain, we are confident of providing better support for our customers' changing security needs."
