Get to know Allergist and Immunologist Dr. Shreya Patel, who serves patients in Orlando, Florida.

New York, New York City, Jan 29, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Patel, a reputable allergist, an immunologist is the CEO of the Allergy & Asthma Center of Orlando. She and her staff provide all of the latest and top of the line services including allergy skin testing, patch testing, asthma testing, challenges, and allergy shots.

Whether a patient is suffering from classic hay fever symptoms, coughing, asthma, itchy skin, or severe food allergies among other complaints, Dr. Patel will work with them to find a diagnosis, minimize symptoms, and optimize their quality of life. She will discuss options for testing and treatments without pursuing unnecessary invasive procedures. She believes that patients should have a say in their care and therefore will create a treatment plan with each patient on an individualized basis.

With a special interest in food allergies and eczema, Dr. Patel also treats the full array of allergic disorders. She understands that allergic disorders generally run in the family so she pays close attention to treating the whole family.

A member of the Physician's Society of Central Florida, she enjoys taking part in their medical student mentorship program. She is an active member of the American Lung Association leadership committee as well as the Lip Sync For Lungs annual fundraising event planning committee.

In regards to her educational background, Dr. Patel graduated with her bachelor's degree from Pennsylvania State University in 2006. Years later, in 2011, she went on to earn her medical degree from St. George's University School of Medicine.

Furthering her education, she completed three years of residency training in pediatrics at the Goryeb Children's Hospital in Morristown, New Jersey. She then went on to complete a two-year fellowship training at Rutgers University in New Jersey where she was exposed to both children and adult patients with complex disease in both allergy and immunodeficiency.

Dedicated to helping patients breathe better and live better, Dr. Patel is board-certified in allergy and immunology by the American Board of Allergy and Immunology (ABAI). The mission of the ABAI is to improve the quality of medical care by the development and utilization of professional and educational standards for the initial certification and maintenance of certification of physician specialists in allergy and immunology.

Furthermore, she is board-certified in pediatrics by the American Board of Pediatrics (ABP). The ABP exists to promote excellence in medical care for children and adolescents. Certification represents dedication by pediatricians, pediatric subspecialists, and pediatric trainees to the highest level of professionalism in patient care.

Continuously advancing her efforts, Dr. Patel remains an active member of the American College of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology; the Florida Allergy, Asthma & Immunology Society; and the American Academy of Allergy, Asthma & Immunology.

Allergy and immunology involve the management of disorders related to the immune system. These conditions range from the very common to the very rare, spanning all ages and encompassing various organ systems. An allergist/immunologist is a physician specially trained to diagnose, treat, and manage allergies, asthma, and immunologic disorders, including primary immunodeficiency disorders.

Residing in Orlando with her husband and two young children, Dr. Patel loves being a mom just as much as she loves being a doctor. During her free time, she enjoys cooking, health, and fitness, reading, as well as going to the movies.

She is fluent in English, Spanish, and Gujarati.
