Get to know Licensed Practical Nurse, Starla Waddell, who serves patients in Rome, Georgia.

New York City, Jan 12, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Starla is a licensed practical nurse at Harbin Clinic in Rome, Georgia. Her areas of specialization include pediatric care, home health care, and correctional nursing.

Harbin Clinic is Georgia's largest physician-owned, multi-specialty clinic with more than 240 providers across 37 specialties in 20 locations throughout northwest Georgia. Since 1870, the Harbin family has practiced medicine in the region, founding the Harbin Hospital in 1908 in Rome, Georgia. That hospital grew into the present Harbin Clinic which cares for thousands of patients each day.

"At Harbin Clinic, our mission is to care completely for the health and wellness of every person in the communities we serve. So while we help patients become better when they are ill, we also focus on ways to improve the health of everyone in the community -- not just our patients" as stated on their website.

Graduating with her nursing degree from Georgia Northwestern Technical College in 1986, Starla attributes her success to her passion for helping others and being able to make a difference. She is the recipient of the Years of Service Award for her 15 years of service at Harbin Clinic.

A Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) provides routine care for the sick or injured. They work under the supervision of doctors and RNs, performing duties such as taking vital signs, collecting samples, administering medication, ensuring patient comfort, and reporting the status of their patients to the nurses.

LPNs are generally hired in smaller settings such as nursing homes, home health environments, and rehabilitation centers. They must be skilled in balancing care for patients and completing practical daily administrative tasks.
