

ENDURE Studios Founder, Featured On The Cover Of SHINE ON HOLLYWOOD Magazine, AND ENDURE: LEBANON Back On Amazon Prime

Featured By the UNHCR and American Songwriter Magazine, SOHM Now Goes In Depth On The Origin Of ENDURE Studios

California, Los Angeles, Feb 3, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - Shine On Hollywood Magazine released its music issue, featuring Jay Denton on the cover and with a 37-page spread detailing his journey from growing up in Texas, to founding ENDURE Studios in Los Angeles, and traveling the world to create global albums. The article, written by Tiffany Brannan, gives a compelling, behind scenes, glimpse at Denton's childhood, what shaped him creatively, and what inspired his international focus with music. The latest Shine On Hollywood Magazine issue featuring him on the cover was released last month.

The documentary, ENDURE: Lebanon, is also back on Amazon Prime telling the story of Denton's work with the refugee community in Lebanon, and the making of the ENDURE album, "For Home". Directed by Jake Green of Peaceful Sea Productions, the film will be available on Prime through the end of March.

ENDURE Studios has kicked off 2021 with the release of three new singles by Los Angeles artists: "Feeling" by Aaron Kellim, "Lost In the Shuffle" by Melia Salas, and "Sound Of Your Name - Acoustic Version" by Josh Cumbee. The studio continues to grow its roster of local artists, while beginning planning for the next global album in East Africa.
