Earning her undergraduate degree from Cornell University in 1999, Dr. Lindenberg went on to graduate with her medical degree from the Tufts University School of Medicine in 2003. She then performed her internship and residency in pediatrics at Montefiore Children's Hospital at the Albert Einstein School of Medicine, completing her training in 2006.

That same year, she attained board certification in pediatrics through the American Board of Pediatrics (ABP). The mission of the ABP is to advance child health by certifying pediatricians who meet standards of excellence and are committed to continuous learning and improvement.

In the state of New Jersey, Dr. Lindenberg has privileges at Hackensack University Medical Center, Valley Hospital, and Englewood Hospital.

Pediatrics is the branch of medicine that involves the medical care of infants, children, and adolescents. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends people be under pediatric care up to the age of 21. Pediatricians provide medical care to people ranging in age from newborns to young adults. They are trained to examine, diagnose, and treat children with a wide variety of injuries and illnesses through all of their developmental stages, as they grow and mature.

Outside of practicing medicine, Dr. Lindenberg enjoys biking, traveling, and spending time with her family.
