

How To Feed Your Ninjas.."Eat Your Vegetables" sounds like "Feed Your Ninjas"

by KARRI Project is taking a new initiative to build a healthier future for the children

United States, Colorado, Feb 16, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Louisville, Colorado Feb 17- by KARRI Project is a nonprofit with a mission to create a solid foundation for the health of our future...starting with the very young.

It appears this nonprofit is on to something. The creation of Jo Jo & Nadine has children cleaning their plates and, unwittingly, learning about nutrition.

Jo Jo & Nadine are the leaders of the Ninja Wellness Warriors, these warriors represent the immune system.

"While researching many studies on the immune system and what keeps it strong in order to fight viruses and disease," says Ms. Johnson Founder of by KARRI Project, "these little ninjas, wielding bananas and asparagus as weapons, formed in my mind...along with their names, Jo Jo & Nadine".

"Throughout this pandemic, the immune system has been receiving a lot of attention, it seems to be what will determine your outcome or degree of symptoms should you contract this virus," says Ms. Johnson.

Creating a lifetime of good health habits so we may have a more confident and robust population in future generations is what the founder feels, to be her mission or purpose if you will; to inspire and encourage our children to 'Feed Their Ninjas'.

by KARRI Project is raising capital through their 'try before you buy' Ebook that will reward you with a 25% discount on the Hardcover Book. They do not seek donations as their mission depends upon merchandise which is essential to engage, educate and inspire the children.

However, companies who'd like to help with this mission are encouraged to sponsor books to be donated to other Children's Nonprofits who eagerly await their copies.

"Feed Your Ninjas" is the catchphrase this nonprofit aims to keep on the minds of many. "These Ninja armies need to be fed a healthy diet and exercised daily, so they can do what they are designed to do, fight for our wellness," Says Ms. Johnson "We hope Jo Jo & Nadine will be an influence to all"
