

Invited is bringing everyone together with their alluring party packages

From social distancing to distanced socializing, people in different cities can celebrate events together through virtual gatherings.

United States, California, Feb 8, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Amidst the pandemic's physical distancing, Invited has come up with an initiative to bring the closed ones even closer. The company has a team of party professionals who know exactly how to bring everyone together through virtual gatherings that can bring joy to your friends and family.

Invited believes that physical distance cannot break people's emotional bond. To keep that bonding intact, this company has come up with the idea of a party in a box where they provide crafted snacks, cocktail kits, and customized packages for every kind of house party. Whether it is a birthday bash, a fun movie night, a gaming gathering, or even a graduation celebration, Invited has your back. The company has categorized its services in different themes and designated artisanal goodies, beverages, party kits, etc. according to the event. The packages can be customized per users' preferences. Party props like glow sticks, photo booths, and games are added to make the online meeting fun. The packages also come with a card containing a message from the sender, marking the event more personal.

Every party package comes at an affordable price which ranges from 32 USD to 80 USD. To get 15% off all products, the user can join their newsletter. The company also provides free priority US shipping for orders which cost over 50 USD. Preparing for a virtual party is easier than ever. The first step is to browse their products and choose a package from a variety of options. The second step is to make a guest list and order the packages. After the process of shipping is done, the final step is to ignite your party with the party boxes and drift into the flow of happiness.

Invited is a leading provider of virtual party refreshments. Visit <https://www.invited.us/> for more details.

Media Contact

Invited, Co.

info@invited.us

1600 Bryant St San Francisco, CA 94141

Source : Invited, Co.

See on IssueWire