AXA XL welcomes SmartCompliance to their Construction Ecosystem

Texas, Bryan, Feb 2, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - In October 2020 AXA XL released an exclusive tool called the Construction Ecosystem Tech Library. The new resource benefits their construction clients in managing risk with more than 25 partners including SmartCompliance. This new partnership will bring a premier insurance tracking and compliance management asset to the ecosystem.

SmartCompliance will serve AXA XL clients with a certificate of insurance and vendor compliance tracking and process improvement through automation. The ability to move projects forward on-time while ensuring compliance will be a huge benefit to construction companies. The Construction Ecosystem's main objective is to serve construction clients by recommending vetted technology that reduces risk and can increase profits while furthering AXA XL as a trusted adviser.

"Our partnership with AXA XL will open the door to seamless insurance tracking and vendor compliance for construction companies. In an industry where we're constantly trying to manage risk on job sites, it's incredibly important to stay on top of compliance and make sure everyone is insured. SmartCompliance will do exactly this for AXA XL's clients while making other process improvements in vendor compliance."

James Benham, SmartCompliance founder, and CEO added

"We can connect technologies together to create a digital environment where clients can see their information all in one spot providing a risk dashboard, benchmarking capabilities, access to project status information, claims to trend, and more. The construction industry may have once been slow to adapt to technology, but that's changing, and we're excited to be an integral part of driving that change."

Gary Kaplan, president of AXA XL's North America construction business
