

The Provocative Hooks of Isaiah Mcdaniels' 'New Year New Breesh - EP INTRO' Suggest That Life Is Short

The New York rapper-producer Isaiah Mcdaniels pokes on the harsh truth that life is short and every moment has its significance with 'New Year New Breesh - EP INTRO'.

New York City, Feb 18, 2021 (IssueWire.com) - The outstanding doyen in the American hip hop music industry, Isaiah Mcdaniels presents a spine-chilling rap song 'New Year New Breesh - EP INTRO' on Soundcloud. As a man who has opposed to the unjust shown in the predominating corrupted society, the upcoming New York rapper-producer makes this song about the freedom that is sunk under the weight of unethical shares of corruption. America is the land of dreamers. He says that people can dream as long as they are breathing in this mysterious land of opportunities. The introspective single encourages everyone to push harder to reach the finish line and win the American dream. He criticizes the unhealthy competition in the industry instead of backing up each other.

Isaiah Mcdaniels is the prodigious figure in the industry whereas the amateur rappers look like minions under his shadow. His creative ideas are exposed in the kaleidoscopic layers of compositions in the new song 'New Year New Breesh - EP INTRO'. It extracts a stargazing experience when you plug the earphones in your ears. Drawing serious influences from the rap gods of the nation, he placed the center theme of the contemporary music scene to create a nostalgic soundscape with organic lyrics. New York has become the musical landscape that has turned into the land of dreams for the upcoming artist. He confidently portrays the one fact that's indelible: you can dream as long as you breathe the air inside your lungs. His masculine aura has infected the innocence of the placid waves of gritty melodies. The dramatic style of spewing out controversial words so fluently is nothing but bait to flood the market with the intoxicating, harsh feeling.

He is the iconic rapper who returned to the famous stage with the positive humble brags in the track 'kik diss track part 4'. He produces this track under his own glamorous production house Zayyiah Productions. The captivating collision of his rap verses and chilling trap beats on the smashing hit 'NotbayK' have freaked the Soundcloud users. He has received exceptional appreciation from his fans all around the world. Get more new tracks from the new rapper on Instagram, and Facebook.
