Brian Jerome was raised up in the Midwest with roots in Michigan and gaining his expertise within the state of Minnesota as he cultivated his craft of creating songs with a meaning and a story attached. He then migrated to the Pacific Northwest and became a serious performing artist bringing down the house wherever he would perform. His next step in his musical journey leads him to the recording studio where he has been working as a session vocalist and Latin percussionist for many years within the renowned Portland Oregon music scene.

On BJP's latest release, the featured songs are "Bitch Liar Cheat" and "Sourpuss" which are featuring two of the Pacific Northwest greatest rappers. Jay Mack is a founding member of "UKrew" circa 94' which had the hit, "If You Were Mine" reaching within the top 40 when it was released. Jay has been involved with BJP since the release of "Making Forward Progress" which is BJP's fifth release, he provides his experience with lyrical genius and hits home with "Bitch Liar Cheat" expressing the thought of cheating mates. Then the electric voice of Dat Boy Wayne hits home with the cut, "Sourpuss" stating the fact that everyone has experienced that type of person in their lives at some time.
