STORS is an online grocery shopping app where store owners, suppliers, micro shops, local stores set up their stores and sell groceries online. The app helps store owners to increase their sales and grow business.

STORS has two apps, one is for a regular app for grocery buyers and another is for stors partners.

STORS daily grocery app is much convenient for grocery customers, I feel it is a new kind of innovative conversational approach to buying the products from the nearby grocery stores. The customers just need to search the store in the app search bar and then the app will show the available products in the store where customers can view and place the order.

It is again a new conversational approach, chat with sellers also available in the app which is very convenient and easy to use and customers can communicate with the sellers before placing the order, even customers can place a custom order also...this app is packed with tons of features... and users are going to enjoy this app.

Stors partner app is for grocery stores, suppliers where they can set up the store at stors app and start receiving orders from the customers... the stors partner app is easy and convenient for the sellers to set up and sell online...both this seller app and customer app is enabled with the AI and deep learning to understand the customer and seller behavior.

STORS partner app can be a useful app for the following businesses:

- Grocery stores
- Suppliers and vendors
- Restaurants/hotels
- Fruits and Vegetable stores
- Pharmacy and medical store
- Handicrafts or Homemade items
- Micro stores
- Local grocery stores

Currently, both apps are available only in the google play store, and the company is looking to expand the seller base across India providing quality customer support to the users. Both sellers and customers can reach out stors customer support at support@getstors.com

We are in talks with investors to raise funds and soon after we receive funding we will be acquiring some of the similar players in the market, Sujeesh founder and CEO told in the press release.
