

How Loop Cashmere are leading the way in sustainable fashion

No need to sacrifice luxury for ethical fashion

United Kingdom, West Yorkshire, Mar 30, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - SUSTAINABLE CASHMERE

We take our responsibility to the planet very seriously, and we've made important considerations every step of the way in getting our luxury cashmere styles to you.

Our yarn supplier and our manufacturer are sustainability accredited, which focuses on enhancing the welfare of the goats, farmers, and communities within the cashmere farms, by laying out a clear and comprehensive set of criteria that govern all aspects of sustainable cashmere production. Regular checks are performed by independent auditors to ensure compliance with the criteria. This means that you, our lovely customer, can feel confident knowing our sustainable cashmere is sourced from Mongolia.

Our ethical techniques don't stop there, though. We searched long and hard to find the right place to turn our quality luxury cashmere into the garments you can shop today. We found a wonderful factory in Mongolia with fantastic environmentally-friendly practices. The factory has a water treatment plant on-site to reuse all water used throughout the production process. They also plant trees to offset carbon emissions and grow vegetables that they use to cook lunch for the team.

Our products across lines like cashmere knitwear and cashmere accessories are manufactured in short runs and we will release new items as they become available, having been shipped by the least impact routes.

Following the creation of our luxury cashmere garments, we made sure to consider our environmental impact in our packaging too. 95% of the elements within our packaging and labeling are either recyclable or compostable, and we've made it our mission to bring the remaining 5% in line with this!

We were also delighted when our paths crossed with a UK distribution center, Enabled Works, which is a not-for-profit distribution center owned and run by a disabled workforce.

We are proud that they have agreed to lovingly package and ship our fabulous products to you.

We wanted to support this fantastic initiative and are pleased to name this as our distribution center.

We've also considered the journey of our products from us to you. We send your orders via DPD, a courier keeping environmental practices at the heart of their company with their DrivingChange™ policy.

We can proudly say that we have created a brand that is conscious about its impact on the environment and the communities helping to create it around the globe. We're committed to working with our supply chain partners to make improvements every season, bringing guilt-free luxury straight to your wardrobe.
