The pandemic has altered the way we live, read, and socialize. It's turned people's lives upside down all over the world and has had a major impact on industries, causing havoc in our lives.

In these difficult times, Kotton Grammer Media is doing its best to help people. Kotton Grammer Media, based in Miami, is providing a $2000 promotional stimulus package to qualified local businesses.

Many local companies have been impacted by the pandemic in the last 18 months. Kotton Grammer Media is contributing $500,000 in digital marketing services to small companies around the States in order to help them reach more potential audiences.

This will be a massive support to people who are struggling to get back on their feet. The stimulus program's increased online visibility could provide small businesses with the extra revenue they need to keep their payrolls up to date, rehire workers who have been laid off, and cover applicable overhead.

Kotton Grammer, the founder of Kotton Grammer Media quotes that “Small businesses are the backbone of our economy employing local people in communities across America”. He is saddened by the fact that these business owners have suffered greatly as a result of the pandemic, and he wants to have their backs with this initiative.

Kotton Grammer Media is a Miami-based digital marketing firm that has served thousands of clients all over the world since its inception in 2013. And now with their stimulus package, they are becoming the pillars that support small and emerging businesses.

The advertising stimulus package offers qualifying companies up to $2,000 in one-time financial aid to cover marketing costs that help them achieve organic and local online exposure. The program can assist eligible for-profit or not-for-profit companies. Local businesses must provide Google with the appropriate local indications so that their brand appears as consumers in the area search for attorneys, pizza, or something else.

The Google business listing appears above all other results, including organic search results, with the exception of advertisements. Local businesses will gain new customers and expand by ranking first on Google. This will massively help businesses and companies receive more phone calls, site visits, more Driving Directions, and Foot Traffic which in turn will result in more costumes and revenue.

The application process for approval is quite simple and takes less than 3 minutes to complete. So if you are a business owner hit by the massive waves of the pandemic, this is an opportunity of a lifetime. The application can be made by local businesses on their official website Appy Here.

There have been various suggestions by industry leaders advocating that leaders from different industries should come forward and help local businesses. While these are all potential options, only time will be able to tell us what to expect of the future. And whatever that future may hold, expect to see Kotton Grammer Media at the forefront of it.
