Certified by the International College of Applied Kinesiology as an applied kinesiologist, Dr. Koenig has completed over 900 hours of study in applied kinesiology post-certification, and was an ICAK teaching assistant for five years, helping train doctors and students. With over twenty years of experience working in health and wellness, she also integrates complementary healing modalities into her practice including massage, Sacro-Occipital Technique, Neuro-Emotional Technique, Total Body Modification, and nutrition.

Passionate about animals, Dr. Koenig also has over ten years of experience as a certified veterinary chiropractor. She currently provides her healing services at Holistic Veterinary Care, also in Oakland. She primarily treats cats and dogs, but she also has experience with horses and rabbits; she has even treated a rooster! Issues her work addresses range from pain caused by injury or arthritis to internal medical conditions such as urinary/fecal incontinence, constipation, chronic ear problems, seizures, and behavioral disorders related to pain, among others.

Certified through the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners, she is a member of the American Chiropractic Association, the International College of Applied Kinesiology, and the International Veterinary Chiropractic Association.

As a volunteer, Dr. Koenig treated homeless and underprivileged clients at The Suitcase Clinic in Berkeley.

Chiropractic is a form of alternative medicine that mainly deals with the diagnosis and treatment of mechanical disorders of the musculoskeletal system, especially the spine. A chiropractor uses spinal adjustments, manipulation, and other techniques to manage patients' health concerns, including neck pain, back pain, headaches, vertigo, and a long list of other ailments and conditions. They aim to improve patients' functionality and quality of life by properly aligning the body's musculoskeletal structure and enabling the body to heal itself naturally, without the use of medication or surgery.
