

NetKing Technologies Collaborates With Hindrise to Feed the Underprivileged During the Pandemic

India, Delhi, Mar 9, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - NetKing Technologies is a dynamically integrated digital marketing company that provides a massive range of digital or social marketing, corporate branding, unmatched web solutions, graphic designing, website designing, and mobile app development services. Their specialty incorporates delivering the finished projects seamlessly and offering an unparalleled customer experience.

Now, saying that NetKing Technologies is just another information technology organization will be a mistake. Everyone knows of the debacle caused by the outbreak of the coronavirus in 2020, which led to the COVID-19 pandemic. It brought the entire world to its knees. Business organizations started closing their doors one after the other as the virus tightened its grip on the throat of this planet.

Vaccines effective against the SARS-CoV-2 virus are now available, but the world isn't out of the woods yet. The commoners must stick to social distancing measures and wear masks whenever they go out in public. While the economical spine of every nation broke down, specific types of businesses started gaining more popularity than before. Among them, IT firms like NetKing Technologies fared far better than others because people needed digital services and systems to remain in touch with others.

The poor and underprivileged people of India probably suffered more than others. That's why NetKing Technologies utilized its resources to take a humanitarian step. It started a campaign called #feedthehungry through #aatmnirbharnewakitchen by collaborating with an NGO called Hindrise. Through this campaign, they took on the responsibility to provide the poor and hungry folks with food at Rs. 5/-. This initiative is indeed commendable and noteworthy.

The press learned about the matter from Hindrise and approached Mr. Ravi Ranjan, the founder, and CEO of NetKing Technologies. Mr. Ranjan informed the press, "This is nothing more than a minor attempt from our company to help the poor and unfortunate people of our great nation. Hundreds and thousands of other business companies and others with enough resources are doing it. We thought that we should do the same.”

He further added, “If your country is on the brink of destruction, what will you do? If you have enough resources to spare, it will be inhuman to avoid helping those who can’t help themselves during a time of crisis like this, and if you go through this world’s history, you’ll find no other event as catastrophic as this one. I am immensely happy that our company was able to work with Hindrise, an NGO working tirelessly for the betterment of the underprivileged.”

Hindrise has much to thank NetKing Technologies for. After all, non-government firms usually don’t have enough resources to take on such projects. Nevertheless, both Hindrise and NetKing Technologies deserve applause for their work, as well as the people who are leading these two organizations from the front – Mr. Ravi Ranjan of NetKing Technologies and Mr. Narendra Kumar, the founder of Hindrise.
