

New Patented App Tracks Warranties of Catalytic Converters

California, Los Angeles, Mar 17, 2021 (Issuewire.com) - Fact, all catalytic converters on vehicles have a different warranty than the manufacturer's standard warranty. There are several parties involved in the warranty and regulations of these items. Federal, state, and manufacturers are the 3 parties that are involved in setting the requirements. The "Cats" as they are called in the industry, have longer terms as in time and miles of coverage. Consumers/vehicle owners usually don't think about this important part of their vehicle until it is diagnosed by a service visit. "Cats" are an expensive part and some vehicles can have one, two, and even four units (with 2 being pre-cats).

The existing <https://www.myhipsmartapp.com/> app has added the capability to track and alert the consumer that their catalytic converter(s) should be checked before they fall out of warranty. This could result in savings of hundreds of dollars for consumers and better performance of their vehicle. As these parts are very expensive the practice of stealing them from parked vehicles has evolved so tracking the replacement(s) is also important.

Wayne Merry, the developer (founder background <https://www.myhipsmartapp.com/the-back-story>) discovered this working in a high-end auto dealership service department. Informing, alerting, and saving consumers money with their autos is our main goal with our app. For more information contact us.
